

Beyond Pearl Harbor Exploring Advanced World War II Military Records

The follow-up to The Day That Lived in Infamy. It will be assumed attendees have basic knowledge about World War II research.

After briefly touching on the basics of obtaining the OMPF, attendees will learn about additional records to trace the service of their soldier, sailor, or Marine in World War II.

In this engaging and informative presentation, Jennifer shares:

- A brief recap on starting research and obtaining the Official Military Personnel File (OMPF).
- Air Force Accident Reports, Missing Air Crew Reports, Navy/Marine Corps Mission Reports.
- A look at Casualty and Prisoner of War (POW) records.
- Tips on weaving military, genealogical, and historical records together.
- Using Museums for Research.

This program will appeal to veterans, surviving family members, genealogists, historians, students, and those interested in learning how to begin military research.
